Dan Leno and the Limehouse Golem was a dark, twisted tale set back in Victorian London in the wake of the Ratcliffe Highway murders. Peter Ackroyd has done an excellent job in his research to plot his murder mystery around real people and events. Dan Leno has a strong plot that is well balanced with device and references. Thomas de Quincey's work is mentioned several times, and notable personalities like Karl Marx,

George Gissing, and Dan Leno are integrated into the plot as characters ...

Dan Leno & the Limehouse Golem: Ackroyd, Peter ...

Dan Leno And The Limehouse Golem is quite simply a masterpiece. Every aspect of the novel is remarkable. It's a whodunit, though it suggests a couple of credible suspects right at the start. It even convicts its central character to death by hanging before we have even got to know her. Clearly things are not going to be obvious. The novel is also a study in character, especially that of its central actor, Lambeth Marsh Lizzie, later Mrs Elizabeth Cree. It's also an evocation of London in ...
