Destiny The War Letters Of

Martin wrote two letters to his father in October 1918, from the battlefield of World War I. An apocalyptic war, contemporary with the pandemic of "Spanish influenza". Both events caused thousands of deaths that produced, in the young man, a deep sadness and a strong pessimism about the future. He also felt a great anxiety because his family was in Vienna, where tragic events were about to happen.

A ticket agent first grabbed a hold of him until a police officer arrived from outside. Crowds began to form outside the station, including a group of black men who threatened to lynch the assassin (Garfield had been an abolitionist before the war and a champion of freedman's rights after it). As the officer dragged him away, Guiteau took one of the letters he had written out of his pocket, demanding that it be delivered to General William Tecumseh Sherman. He had written Sherman in ...
