Drill String And Collars 1

A drill string on a drilling rig is a column, or string, of drill pipe that transmits drilling fluid (via the mud pumps) and torque (via the kelly drive or top drive) to the drill bit. The term is loosely applied to the assembled collection of the smuggler pool, drill collars, tools and drill bit.

Drill collars are thick walled tubulars that are used at the bottom of the drill string (see Figure 3-1). Their principal purpose in the drill string is to provide the axial force needed to advance the drill bit (see Figure 1-2). When drilling a vertical borehole, the axial force is the weight of the drill collars. Drill collars are available in API range lengths given in Table 1-1. Figure 3 ...

Drill collars are rethreaded and drifted to API Spec. 7-1. Full-length heat-treatment processes ensure mechanical properties meet or exceed API Spec. 7-1 requirements. A hardness range of 285-341 Brinell hardness and Charpy "V" notch minimum impact strength of 40 ft-lb at 70 °F are guaranteed 1 in. below the surface.

The lower part of a drill string used for the drilling of oil or gas wells is usually composed of drill collars and stabilizers as shown in figure (1). The drill string rotates during drilling, with a typical borehole diameter ranging from 100 to 850mm, while drill collars have a diameter between 100 to 200mm and a wall thickness up to 85mm.

Fatigue Estimation of Drill-string and Drill-pipe ...

Drill collars work to keep drill strings from buckling under pressure. They absorb much of the vibration, which reduces pressure on the drill pipe and maintains tension, reducing bending and fatigue failures. They also help control the direction and inclination of boreholes, which includes keeping the walls of the hole straight.

Definition - What does Drill Collar mean? A Drill Collar is a tubular piece of a drill string which provides weight on the bit for the purpose of drilling. While drill pipes make up the majority length of drill strings, drill collars make only a small amount. They have thick walls machined from the solid bars of steel.

Keystone Drill Collar Slips KET Type A, C-1, and DCS Drill Collar Slips are designed for use while running drill collars. The slip's multi-segment-hinged design allows it to fit all drill collars within the slip's size range. These drill collar slips are manufactured from heat-treated alloy steel, increasing strength and resistance to wear.

In deck structures of offshore platforms, drill-collars (pipes) must be handled by crane, and it has been reported that such drill-collars often drop accidentally to the deck plate. Figure 9.6 shows a schematic of a drill-collar pipe. For typical dimensions used for the work in offshore platforms, L = 2000 mm, d 1 = 241.3 mm, and d 2 = 76.2 mm.
