The Final Bivouac: The Surrender Parade at Appomattox and ...

Calkin's Final Bivouac is a valuable work that details the uneasy days immediately following Lee's debacle at Sailor's Creek and surrender at Appomattox. The Federal Armies encamped at historic Burkeville, Va preparing to invade North Carolina but with Johnston's surrender marched to Washington for a great victory parade. A good work that fills a gap in history.

Calkins then issued a companion volume the following year titled The Final Bivouac: The Surrender Parade at Appomattox and the Disbanding of the Armies April 10 - May 20, 1865. That work vividly described the final surrender proceedings and then, for the first time ever as best I can tell, told the story of how the soldiers reacted to the news of Lincoln's death, featured accounts of the homeward bound Confederates as well as the northward bound Yankees.
